

A new EU-US agenda for global change

1. Introduction

The relationship between the European Union and the United States is unique and built on and biomedical research should coordinate to ensure a coherent transatlantic position and information flow.

The EU and US alst56*h(ls0)-131re gd e131relst56i(ls1(nEU)3()-129G[])JTJETQq0.00000912 0 612 792 re

Commission and the High Representative/Vice-President will work closely with the European Parliament and Council in its implementation.

An EU-US Summit in the first half of 2021 should launch this ambitious and concrete agenda. It would give a clear