

In 2008, the European Union disallowed RDAs, but continued to allow VSAs, which allow carriers to move cargo aboard one another's vessels and hence may reduce the pressure on each individual carrier to order new ships

